Alternatively, if they have studied retail business and related subjects at a higher level, learners would be able to seek a more senior or specialist role including merchandiser, buyer, visual merchandiser or trainee manager, This qualification, together with other relevant qualifications at Level 2 such as GCSE English and Maths, could provide progression to GCE Business and other vocational qualifications at Level 3.

There are no formal entry requirements for this qualification. It is likely to be studied by 14-16 year olds in schools alongside GCSEs or in college by 16-19 year olds as part of a programme of study or learning programme.

This structure has been designed to allow learners to develop the understanding and skills related to a range of functional areas in retail businesses. The units allow a focus on specific functional areas and the relationships between those functional areas that are essential in a successful retail business. The structure and content does not only relate to functional areas, but each unit has been designed so that knowledge, skills and understanding are developed through tasks that have many of the characteristics of real work in retail businesses. Each unit has an applied purpose which acts as a focus for the learning in the unit. This approach is called applied learning and enables learners to learn in such a way that they develop:

- skills required for independent learning and development
- a range of generic and transferable skills
- the ability to solve problems

- the skills of project-based research, development and presentation
- the fundamental ability to work alongside other professionals in a professional environment.

The qualification has been devised around the concept of a 'plan, do, review' approach to learning, where learners are introduced to a context for learning, review previous learning to plan activities, carry out activities and review outcomes and learning. This approach mirrors many work-related activities in retail business and retail operations and also provides for learning in a range of contexts. As such, the qualification provides learners with a broad appreciation of work in retail business-related industries and wider opportunities for progression into further education, employment or training.

In addition to the WJEC Level 1/2 Certificate in Retail Business, there is also the WJEC Level 1/2 Award in Retail Business. This is a smaller qualification, designed to be delivered in schools to 14-16 year olds alongside GCSEs. It has similar characteristics to the WJEC Level 1/2 Certificate in Retail Business, including some of the same units.
